1.2 As a Loopia Reseller you are entitled to a basic commission during your first year.

1.3 As a Loopia Partner you are entitled to a recurring commission on selected services as long as the customer's account is active and connected to the reseller. The requirement for this is that the Reseller has got at least ten active web hosting customers.

1.4 The reseller has the opportunity to either invoice the customer on their own or to let Loopia invoice the customer. By managing the invoicing on his own, the reseller has the opportunity to set his own price on both domain names and web hosting packages and can thus earn money in addition to commission.

1.5 The reseller has the opportunity to request commission after achieving a minimum amount of 450 SEK in commission based on paid web hosting orders. All remaining commission during this period will be paid retroactively.

1.6 Commission to resellers will be paid when the invoiced amount is fully paid. The total commission will be paid within 30 days net on the reseller's request through the reseller zone.

1.7 In order to receive commission, Loopia requires that the reseller has F-tax. If not, the physical person who signs this agreement is personally liable for any tax and/or employer fees that are brought to Loopia.

1.8 Loopia has the right to exclude the reseller from campaigns due to Loopia's marketing and sales strategy. The campaigns which the reseller has access to are listed in the reseller zone during the campaign.

1.9 The reseller is not responsible for the customers' creditworthiness. The reseller is however responsible for promptly notifying Loopia if the reseller has noticed any conditions which indicate that the customer's general creditworthiness is weak.

1.10 The reseller is liable to pay for domain names that have been ordered by or through the reseller in accordance with section 2.8 and 2.11 of the general terms for resellers. All domains, products and services that are traded, are subject to Loopia's general terms. The reseller is obliged to always use Loopia's current general terms for purchase of domain names, products and services at all sales. The reseller and the end user are both responsible to make sure that the end user undertakes to follow Loopia's current terms.
